RIMROCKERS STAGE BEST DANCE OF THE SEASON

The Rimrockers came to town in full strength last Friday night and gave a splendid demonstration of how one's troubles may be dispelled, employing an orchestra of five pieces to aid in their manifestation of gloom-chasing. Mrs. Nick Wagner was at the piano; Dick Green, banjo; Roy Emerson, violin; Joe Broemmeling, cornet, and Sim Currin, drums.

The crowd began to assemble early in the evening, the dance starting off rather timidly, but as the hours advanced the crowded floor of dancers swung into a pace that taxed the ability of many to keep up.

Each succeeding hour found the dance becoming better and better, until at three o'clock the following morning, when Henry Lorang sang the Rimrockers' song and gave the “coyote” yell as a signal for the final dance.

Square dances, circle two-steps, tag waltzes and the more modern dances were featured throughout the evening, there being no existing doubt at the close that this was one of the best dances in years.

This dance was sponsored by the American Legion, which organization served lunch at the mid-night hour.
